

A technical history of Radio Communication Equipment
in the Army

WIRELESS for the WARRIOR

By Louis Meulstee (editor)

The Pamphlet Series

No. 4 Technical Manual Art

In 1994 I put together a follow-up of an earlier article on the topic of 'Technical Manual Art', (Artwork on military technical manuals, primary Army signalling) by Ludwell Sibley, KB2EVN, published in the AWA 'The Old Timer's Bulletin'.

When recently requested to provide a few high resolution scans of two drawings from this article, I remembered that the original photocopies used for this article were stored in a almost forgotten folder together with a large number of additional cartoons and line drawings photocopies, and later taken scans, mostly at the Royal Signals Museum Archive. At that stage it was thought to be a good idea to share the pages of the original articles in a WftW Pamphlet, extended with most of the stored illustrations.

A Wireless for the Warrior publication

